TABLE OF CONTENTS

DEAR MEMBERS AND FRIENDS

2015 was a year that the Trust continued to build on our achievements of the past five years and laid the groundwork for the next five. Since 2010, the Trust has become sole owner of the Home and Studio, strengthened its development efforts with a wide range of giving opportunities, and expanded its operations to include five varied and significant Chicago area sites—becoming the international gateway to Wright’s Chicago.

This year, the Board approved a new strategic plan covering 2015-2020. The plan includes an updated mission statement and the core values that guide our work. It addresses all areas of the Trust’s operation. With interpretation and the preservation of our sites highlighted, the Trust has revitalized and expanded our education programs and established a restoration resource center. We renewed our commitment to serve the broadest public audience by creating new ADA tours that make our sites accessible to all. Our new Wright in the Region tours extend interpretation of our Chicago sites to other sites in the Midwest. And our renowned Travel Wright national and international travel programs extend our reach to important related sites worldwide.

The loyalty of the Chicago community to Wright’s local legacy has given us the foundation and determination to look forward to the future. I would like to thank all of our donors, volunteers, members and friends whose support makes us the great organization we are. I am deeply appreciative of my fellow Board members for their generous service, and to members of the Trust’s staff led by our President & CEO, Celeste Adams, all of whom tirelessly dedicate their energy and talent to the success of our mission.

LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

MISSION

The mission of the Trust is to engage, educate and inspire the public through interpretation of Frank Lloyd Wright's design legacy and preservation of his original sites for future generations.

CORE VALUES

ENGAGEMENT

Engaging a broad and diverse local, regional, national and international audience through a dynamic cultural tourism program, a comprehensive and interactive website, and consistent marketing and communications initiatives.

EDUCATION

Affirming the contemporary relevance of Wright's design legacy by educating K-12 students through innovative design programs that nurture individual vision; by presenting quality adult enrichment programs, national/international travel programs; and by producing electronic/print publications.

INSPIRATION

Inspiring our audience through powerful aesthetic experiences of authentic Wright sites, preserved to Wright's original design vision.

FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS

Developing the Trust's resources and maintaining the Trust's financial stability in order to sustain Wright's original sites for future generations and ensure a lasting and secure future for the Trust, supported by strong community and business relationships and by dynamic Board engagement.

As we begin to implement the 2015-2020 strategic plan, the Trust this year renewed its mission to interpret Wright's design legacy through new programs for adults, new Chicago cultural partners, and a new Education program for youth, families and teachers.

ENGAGING OUR AUDIENCE – INTERPRETATION PROGRAMS FOR ADULTS

The Trust's Thinking into the Future lecture by architect John Ronan was a keynote event in Preston Bradley Hall for Chicago's first Architectural Biennial at the Cultural Center. A signature Trust annual program, presented in partnership with the University of Chicago and AIA Chicago, this distinguished series marked its sixth year at the 2015 Architecture Biennial. Speaking to an audience of over 350, Ronan focused on Chicago's built environment and the challenges to contemporary architects working within this powerful historical construct. Shortly after the event, Ronan was announced as the only Chicago-based finalist for the Obama Presidential Library.

This year's community enrichment series speakers included architect, Norman Brosterman; architectural historian, Gwen Sommers-Yant speaking on Wright in Glencoe, a partnership with the Glencoe Historical Society celebrating the centennial of Wright's Ravine Bluffs; architect and historian, John Waters; and Planning Supervisor for the Chicago Park District, Julia Bachrach. Ms. Bachrach's lecture on The Prairie Spirit: Jens Jensen and Chicago was presented in the newly opened auditorium of the Gordon Parks Arts Hall at the University of Chicago Laboratory Schools, the Trust's partner for this event. A new Robie House series in partnership with the Seminary Coop Bookstore featured Oriental Institute Curator, Jack Green, discussing James Cuno's book Who Owns Antiquity in the Robie House living room.

Expanding our popular website with 500,000 unique annual visitors, the Trust launched a new online resource: Buildings of Wright's Chicago Years, a comprehensive interactive listing of 147 sites from 1888 through 1911 that includes individual entries and illustrations for each site. In 2016 the Trust will expand this resource to include Wright's work to 1920.

In 2015 the landmark Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) celebrated 25 years and the Trust partnered with ADA on their Cultural Access Project to expand access at Chicago's cultural attractions. Each Trust site piloted sign language tours and touch tours for guests who are blind or with low vision. These pilot programs will be incorporated as regular offerings at the Trust's sites in 2016.

Extending our tours to Wright sites surrounding Chicago, this year the Trust introduced Wright in the Region. These day trips to new destinations included the Harley Bradley House in Kankakee, IL; Laurent House in Rockford, IL; and SC Johnson Administration Building and Research Tower in Racine, WI. In response to the success of these tours, the Trust will introduce new destinations in 2016.

Travel Wright, the Trust's national and international travel program, also introduced a new destination this year with a trip to Spain, where travelers visited Barcelona to see the work of Wright contemporary Antoni Gaudi and the 1929 Mies van der Rohe Barcelona Pavilion before continuing to Bilbao to visit Frank Gehry's Guggenheim Museum, a brilliant 20th century descendent of Wright's 1959 masterpiece.

EDUCATION FOR YOUTH, FAMILIES AND TEACHERS

This year the Trust's Education department, with a new team of educators, launched a comprehensive initiative under the guiding theme Designing a Better World that integrates design principles into all of the Trust's education programs in the coming years. The Trust's education programs nurture individual vision and creativity and align with Common Core standards.

In 2015 Trust education programs served over 2,000 kindergarten through 8th grade students in 32 Chicago area public, private and charter schools, offering in-school sessions with Trust educators. Over 2,210 family and youth audiences participated in Trust design studios and 40 teachers attended professional development sessions at the Home and Studio and Robie House.

In-school sessions are age-specific, align with STEM curriculum, and include Designing with Glass: The Art of Geometry; Designing and Building: My New House; Let's Make Plans:

My Neighborhood and City; Design Detectives: The Wright 3 Tour and Pentomino Studio; and Designing with Glass: The Art of Geometry and the Physics of Light. The Education department also initiated Building Blocks of Architecture learning kits that can be requested by teachers for classroom use. Kits available this year are Froebel Design and Pentomino Design.

The Education department partners each year with the Oak Park Education Foundation to offer Art Start, an elementary school program, and with Oak Park School District 97 to provide all 4th graders a Home and Studio tour with classroom preparation and follow-up.

Family programs at Robie House include LEGO Architects: Design and Build and Design Team @ Robie. At the Home and Studio, Youth Architecture Workshops (Levels I and II) are offered during the summer and winter family workshops are offered during the Home for the Holidays December event.

The Education department works with high school and college interns from local schools and universities across the country, offering paid and unpaid working experiences with Trust mentors throughout the year. Some of these talented young people join the Trust volunteer organization as site interpreters and some eventually join our staff. As the Trust works to expand our education programs to reach larger audiences, we also work to revitalize our organization through integration of next generation interpreters, educators, preservationists and historians.

INSPIRATION – A CORE VALUE THAT PRESERVES OUR SITES AS UNIQUE EXPERIENCES

In June 2015, Unity Temple closed to the public to begin a comprehensive restoration of the site. The Trust website links visitors to a film on the restoration produced by Unity Temple Restoration Foundation. At Robie House a series of casement doors in the living room were restored, as fundraising to complete the final phase of restoration continues.

Emil Bach House (1915) celebrated its 100th Anniversary this year with members of the Bach family returning and a proclamation from the State of Illinois recognizing the excellence of its restoration and importance of its interpretation through public tours and events. Over 7,000 guests have toured Bach House since completion of its restoration when the Trust commenced tours there in 2014.

On March 12 the Trust announced a new restoration resource center where Trust members and historic property owners may access the Trust's extensive archive of restoration information and materials from its award-winning Home and Studio restoration, Robie House and other sites.

Consultation services include information on interior and exterior finishes, glass and furnishings; advice on historic building care and maintenance; archival samples of paint, plaster, wood trim, roofing, piping, doors, masonry, and assistance with researching original and replacement materials; advice on products, suppliers and materials; and access to a network of preservation specialists, including architects, conservators and craftspeople.

In conjunction with the opening of the center, on March 12 and March 26 the Trust presented two programs on historic preservation at Unity Temple: Preservation architects Gunny Harboe and John Eifler, 100 Years: Rehabilitating Bach House and the Ravine Bluffs Development; and on March 26 Daniel Bluestone and Richard Longstreth, Frank Lloyd Wright and the Challenge to Historic Preservation.

Attendance during 2015 at the Trust sites totaled 136,934—Home and Studio, 88,410; Robie House, 37,194; Unity Temple, 4,107; Rookery, 3,822; and Bach House, 3,401.

A STRONG FUTURE

The Trust's 41st Wright Plus Housewalk combined original Wright sites in Oak Park with Coonley House, Stables, and Coach House in Riverside. For the first time, Ernest Hemingway's boyhood home in Oak Park was included on the walk, and over 2,000 guests took red trolleys to nine sites throughout the day. Over 500 volunteers welcomed and registered guests, coordinated logistics for the day, and introduced guests to individual houses.

The Chairman's Reception at The Rookery, co-chaired by Lisa and Ray Lewis, surpassed all previous years' revenue for this fundraiser, netting $55,700 for the evening. Members of the Honorary Committee and major contributors to the event included Ken and Tammy Barrett, Brian and Yasmina Duwe, Lamar and Lisa Johnson, T. Kendall and Patricia Hunt, Gary and Kim McCullough, John Raffkin and Anita Levin, Graham Rarity, Don and Karen Rosenwinkel, and Jeff and Gloria Schwartz. Major corporate sponsors were Ogilvy & Mather, Radio Flyer Inc., KPMG, Sidley Austin LLP, and The Segal Company.

Annual Fund 2015 also broke all previous records totaling $131,277, with lead gifts from Tawani Foundation, Rena and Clyde Holland, US Bank, Robert Pasin and Muriel Quinn, Hickory Foundation, Hildner Family Foundation, T. Kendall Hunt Family Foundation and Patricia D. Hunt, John Raffkin and Anita Levin, Sidley Austin Foundation, Mary G. and James P. Nelson, Don and Karen Rosenwinkel, and Westrock.

The John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, Illinois Department of Economic Opportunity/Illinois Office of Tourism, Harper Court Arts Council, and Illinois Arts Council Agency have awarded generous grants that enhance our ability to serve our audiences and our community.

Major gifts to the Robie House Restoration this year were from Tawani Foundation, Richard and Mary Gray, and Yoko Ono. To these and all our donors named in this report we express our sincere gratitude for their belief in our mission and confidence in our future.

As we build upon our past and set a course for the future, the Trust Board, staff and volunteers are united in determination to perpetuate a strong organization and preserve our Wright sites to inspire future generations.

Wright's Chicago years were the forge that steeled his backbone as an artist and visionary. Had Wright not come to Chicago, a progressive city transformed by extraordinary cultural, artistic and architectural energy, he might never have become the great master of 20th century architecture and design that we recognize today. The Trust and all of our members, cultural partners, and constituency are devoted to this great American legacy built in Chicago and passed on to the world.

In 2015, 660 volunteers contributed 29,800 hours of service.

They spent 2,520 hours in training and continuing education activities, which included interpreter training for tours at the Home and Studio and Robie House, specialty tour training, and attending the Seminar Series and Enrichment Lectures.

Trust volunteers lead tours, host at events and assist guests at our sites.

VOLUNTEERING AT THE TRUST

Trust volunteers are integral to the success of our tours and operations. Volunteers lead site tours, assist with guests, and support special events and projects. Their commitment allows the Trust to fulfill its mission, and we are grateful for their contribution of time and service.
